AT CASTELLO DI BUTTRIO EVERYTHING STILL RETAINS THE AUTHENTIC FLAVOURS OF THE COUNTRYSIDE

Alessandra Felluga throws open the doors of her Castello di Buttrio in the Friuli Hills, where everything still retains the authentic flavours of the countryside: the style of the place, the interior design, the delicious, unsophisticated food and the top-quality wines such as Ribolla Gialla and Friulano.

A visit to the wine estate also offers the opportunity to discover the 18th century Villa, the 17th century Residence, the farm buildings and adjacent stables, together with the 14th century church, brought back to life after a painstaking restoration.

Not to be missed is the ancient Abbazia di Rosazzo, an Augustinian abbey that in the Middle Ages was a crossroads between the East and West, and today is famous for its incredible display of roses, including rare ancient varieties.
